

Stakeholder Consultation on Regulatory Topics

The AESO is planning to consult stakeholders on a variety of tariff-related topics during 2005. These initiatives will be communicated to all stakeholders in the AESO's weekly stakeholder e-mail updates, and all material relating to these consultations will be posted on the Current Regulatory Activities page of the AESO's website.

However, the AESO would like to ensure broad and balanced consultation by developing for each topic a "short list" of stakeholders who would actively participate in the consultation process. The AESO will e-mail these stakeholders directly, and occasionally follow-up by telephone, during the consultation process. If you are interested in actively participating in consultation on any of the following regulatory topics, please provide your contact information below and indicate the topic(s) of interest to you.

If you do not return this form, you may still participate in any AESO consultation process by responding to the information provided in the weekly stakeholder e-mail updates and on the AESO website.
